GIRL OF 10 WINS FIGHT FOR TREE IN SCHOOL

Gloucester, Dec. 14.—"What's the use of saving your pennies all year for a Christmas tree party with your school chums if the firemen won't let you have a tree?"

That was the thought which raced through the mind of ten-year-old Eva Perry, pupil at the Mount Vernon school, when Fire Chief Homer Marchant issued an order informing teachers that because the majority of the schools were of wooden structure Christmas trees should be barred.

Little Eva wasn't satisfied to let it go at that. Determined to win the fight over Eva wrote him a letter. Her mother, Mrs. Charles A. Perry, found the letter, however, and it was decided not to send it. Eva then decided a personal interview would suffice and it did. The youngsters are to have their Christmas trees.

But this is how Eva worked the marvel. Reaching the fire chief's office she asked questions. The chief admitted that he had sent the order.

"You're going to have a Christmas tree, aren't you?" she questioned. "Yes, I hope to have one," was the answer.

"They're going to have one at the police station, aren't they?" "Yes, they'll be one at City Hall?" "Yes."

"Then why can't we have one after saving our pennies all this time?" This puzzled Chief Marchant and he decided to give the matter more thought. Then he hit upon a plan. It was to the effect that every school could have a tree and a first prize was to be awarded to the school.

Eva went back and told her principal, Miss Florence L. Means, and Eva was designated to select the tree. She did and she also selected the fireman, Maurice Deane, as the smoke-eater who should guard the tree in her school.

FORMER SUITOR SOUGHT IN GIRL KIDNAPING

Fall River, Dec. 14.—While Miss Edith Corbin waits trial here on the charges of kidnaping and holding prisoner pretty Rose Gannon, the police are seeking a former sweetheart of the girl against whom they intend bringing a libel charge.

Corbin, who was arraigned on the kidnaping charge, is held in $15,000 bail.

The girl told the police that until a few months ago she was keeping company with the man now sought, but they had a disagreement and she began keeping company with Arthur Lavoie, also of this city.

Saturday evening she Lavoie and married couple went out riding in Lavoie's automobile.

The married couple went to their home a short distance away, and while Lavoie and Miss Gannon were alone, the girl claimed that Corbin and her former sweetheart appeared on the scene.

They took the girl to her home and after parking her in an antique automobile took her to a summer cottage in Ocean Grove.

Miss Gannon says further that she became unconscious from being seized while in the car and that the first thing she knew she found herself in a cottage with Corbin and her former sweetheart, while Corbin returned to this city.

Miss Gannon further informed the police that she was kept there until Sunday night.

LOCATION OF PROPOSED PUBLIC GOLF LINKS

The map above shows Fowl Meadows, the favored site for the new public golf course recommended by the Metropolitan District Commission. Hole No. 1 will be about five short of the head of the Neponset River. The first three holes probably will be located north of the Neponset River, when flow is south the tract and to the west of Hole No. 1. Hole No. 4 will be situated south of the river, which affords a natural hazard.

MCCARTHY MAY BOX MALONEY

Pat McCarthy, champion of the world in the light flyweight class, may meet Al Maloney, champion of the world in the light flyweight class, in a ten-round bout at the Boston Athletic Association arena next week.

SPORT EDITORIAL

Pat McCarthy Joins Parade

The boxing world now looks to New York for red fight men. The days of the old-time L. Sullivan, Joe Kilgan, the Gimp, and Jimmy Barry are over. The new stars are the youth of New York and more are his way to the front.

Pat McCarthy of R. X. Murphy is the first of the new heavyweights to compete when he meets Harry Pearson, Swedish heavyweight, at a professional bout at the Boston Athletic Association arena.

McCarthy's victory followed that of Jack Sharkey, another Bostonian, over Harry Pearson, the heavyweight, and Franz Disner, German fighter.

Sharkey, Maloney and McCarthy stand out over all other challengers for the heavyweight crown. It will be a rather hard task to keep the heavyweight title from coming back to Boston.

Al Mello, sensational Lowell lightweight, proved in his usual fight with Jack Zivic that he is prepared to make a real bid for Pete Latzo's world lightweight championship.

How Fast is Neighborhood Toll Service?

A million telephones are just across the street

Signal your operator Give her the number Hold the line

If you don't know the number ask your local information operator

We measure speed by the average time of many calls. You measure it by the call of the moment. Except to meet a fair question squarely, we would not talk of speed at all.

If we tell you we have seen single calls go through in well under thirty seconds, it is true. When things go just right over direct wires, to better half-a-minute is not unusual; but it is too much to expect this as an unvarying standard.

If we say the average of thousands of calls is less than ninety seconds, that is true, also. But one call beats the average; the next one goes beyond it. A few calls may not get through at all.

After all, the stop-watch is not the best measure of telephone service.

With reasonable allowance for our complex undertaking, we suggest that you judge Neighborhood Toll Service by its simplicity and sureness rather than by its really remarkable speed.
